Rahul, Rohit to open

Focus on the white paper with Virat while going for the toss; India to go with four seamers in the English conditions

SHUBHAM BHARGAVA
Mumbai

The mission Down Under was accomplished successfully by a young Indian side a while ago, now it's time to take on the British in their own den. Although, the Indian team suffered a heart-breaking defeat against New Zealand in the World Test Championship final in England, they will pose a huge threat to the Joe Root led English side.

With Ben Stokes not available for the series, England will be under pressure to begin with. However, they still have a side which can bamboozle the best in the business. Root's side has an inexperienced top-order; but their bowling attack comprising of James Anderson and Chris Broad is one of the most lethal attacks in the world at this point.

For the Indian side, KL Rahul will most probably open alongside Rohit after injuries to Shubman Gill and Mayank Agarwal, and it will be a test for King Kohli who is desperately looking to score a century since August, 2019.

Meanwhile, job cut out for skipper Virat Kohli's eventful leadership career start here when his strategic acumen will be tested while selecting a perfect Indian combination to take on a good England.

Kohli announced his playing XI for the World Test Championship final against New Zealand couple of days before the game and drew flak for not respecting the conditions.

However, he will have to think overtime about the balance of his squad with a long tail, often bushy with runs, and just two openers, one untested (Rohit Sharma) but very capable and another supremely talented (KL Rahul) but highly reluctant starter. While, it would probably require a leap of faith from the skipper to ignore Siraj's calibre.

Probable playing eleven

England: Rory Burns, Dominic Sibley, Zak Crawley, Joe Root, Ollie Pope, Jos Buttler, Sam Curran, Dom Bess, Stuart Broad, Mark Wood, James Anderson

Leave Pujara alone: Kohli

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Nottingham

India captain Virat Kohli wants critics of Cheteshwar Pujara's batting to leave him alone as he strongly believes that it is up to individuals to figure out the drawbacks in their game.

Pujara is India's second highest Test run-getter in the current team after skipper Kohli with 6000 plus runs (6267) in 86 matches but has often been accused of playing an ultra-defensive game which increases pressure on batsmen who follow.

Asked about Pujara batters, Kohli did come to his dependable No 3's defence albeit with a rider:

"It's been going on for a while and I honestly feel a player of his calibre and experience should be left alone and it should be absolutely with the individual to figure out what are the drawbacks in his game," Kohli said on the eve of the first Test against England starting Wednesday.

The captain said that players at this level are aware of their responsibilities and undue criticism doesn't bother them, least of all Pujara.

"Similarly with me or any other player in this team, we are very aware of the things we need to do for the benefit of the team. I can from outside say criticism is unnecessary but I know for a fact that Pujara doesn't care and criticism is as relevant as you want it to be."

"People can say what they want to say on the outside and those are just words at the end of the day. If you feel they mean no value to you, you just carry on, walking on your path."

While he predictably didn't divulge the playing XI and whether KL Rahul or Hanuma Vihari will open the innings, he did say that Shardul Thakur has potential to become an all-rounder across formats.

"Yes, he can definitely be created (into an all-rounder). He already is a multi dimensional cricketer and it's all about him getting more and more confidence... someone like him brings a lot of balance to the Test team or for that matter any format of the game."

"Hardik has done that so far in the past and he is getting back on track to bowling regularly. These kind of cricketers help the team in massive way and Shardul is a huge prospect for us."

"Someone who will be very important not just this series but moving forward as well," the skipper said of the Mumbai seamer, who picked up seven wickets and a half-century in the Brisbane Test against Australia earlier this year.

Compared to 2018, when the team lost 1-4 due to a couple of bad sessions, the skipper feels that they are "much better prepared" this time around with two months in England.

Sunfeast India Move gets Gebrselassie support

"In India, I have always been received with so much warmth and hospitality and it saddens me when I see the impact of the Covid-19 pandemic on millions of people and children in India," he said.

And went on to add, "Sport has the power to bring communities together like no other".

Registrations began on July 28 and closes on September 13. The movement will commence on August 15 and continue for one month (Sept 15). For more details log on: sunfeastindiamoveaone.com.in

'Periodic breaks vital'

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Nottingham

If the international cricketers do not take periodic breaks from the tough bubble life, there could soon be a time when no cricketers of quality will be left due to the stressful life in a post-COVID world.

The Indian captain admitted that living in one bubble after another in these post pandemic times does add to the stress of being a captain and always subconsciously thinking about the team.

Kohli feels that it won't be long before cricketers start taking the Ben Stokes route like the England all-rounder has now pulled out of the marquee series.

"These breaks are very important, for me too. To refresh and come back. In any case, captaincy and shouldering a team's responsibility can be stressful. To add to that, if you are confined in a bubble for a long time, things get even more difficult. These periodic breaks are very important," Kohli said on the eve of the first Test against England.

The custodians of the game need to think seriously about the grueling round the year calendar as the Indian captain doesn't want a situation where one ends up without any quality cricketers due to bubble fatigue.

"Because if your players don't survive to play, then maintaining the quality of cricket will get difficult. Like he's (Stokes) taken a break, there could be more players in the future, at some stage or the other, who could get fatigued by the bubble life," said Kohli, who also has been leading IPL side Royal Challengers Bangalore.

The Indian team got a 20-odd day break after the World Test Championship final, which they lost to New Zealand. Following the break, the team assembled in Durham, where they even played a three-day warm up game before moving here for the first Test.
